Last weekend, River City High School fielded one of its strongest Academic Decathlon teams in recent years, and walked away from the grueling competition with a school-record 24 medals.

"To give you an idea of just how well this year's team performed," said longtime River City High School teacher and Academic Decathlon coach Ed Sanborn, "we won 21 more medals than we did last year. This group was willing to work hard and put in the time it takes to do well in this kind of competition and I'm very happy for of all of them. Plus they're all nice kids. And I've really enjoyed being their coach."

The 2001 Yolo County Academic Decathlon was held at Woodland Community College. In addition to the one from River City High School, teams from Davis High School, Winters High School and Woodland High School also participated.

Students competed in events that tested their knowledge in economics, science, social science, mathematics, music and art. In addition, all the contestants also participated in individual speech, interview and essay segments.

The day's competition was capped with a spirited "Super Quiz" segment, pitting teams against each other in an "academic relay" before an audience of very enthusiastic supporters.

"Although you had to study really hard to win a medal," said RCHS student William Clayton, a member of this year's team, "it's all worth it when you do well. Plus they served us some really great food on the day of the competition."

'When you go through something like this, it brings you closer together like a family, and I think part of our success came from everyone helping each other out as much as they could.'

RCHS TEAM MEMBER SHELVIN WILLIAMS

"The competition went on for almost eight hours," said Darren George, another member of the team, "and it was one of the hardest things I've ever had to do. We would all like to thank Coach Sanborn for all his help and encouragement."

"When you go through something like this," said team member Shelvin Williams, "it brings you closer together like a family and I think part of our success came from everyone helping each other out as much as they could."

Dr. Jorge Ayala, the County Superintendent of Schools, presided over the Super Quiz portion of the contest and said, "The Academic Decathlon provides an opportunity for students at all levels of academic achievement to participate in a contest that celebrates and fosters scholarship. It is a truly unique contest and provides an exciting showcase of the very best in individual and team-based student achievement."

River City High School Principal Mort Geivett was extremely pleased with the performance of RCHS's 2001 Academic Decathlon team. He said, "We want all our students to know that when they do well in scholastic events like the Academic Decathlon, they are going to be recognized for it in the same positive way our student athletes get recognized for what they do on a football field or a basketball court. The Yolo County Academic Decathlon is a very tough competition against some very fine high schools, and I think for us to bring home 24 medals says a lot about what is going on academically on our campus. I'm very proud of what Mr. Sanborn and the whole team accomplished."

Outstanding individual River City performances were turned in by Kenson Vang, who won a gold medal in the Super Quiz, silver medals in mathematics, science and art, and a bronze medal in economics; Igor Dykan, who won a gold in speech, a silver in the interview, and a bronze in math; Tom Webb, who received a gold medal in art, a silver in speech, and a bronze in economics; Darren George, who won bronze medals in math and the Super quiz; William Clayton, who received a silver medal in music; Tariq Yusufzai, who did the same in the Super Quiz relay; Osbaldo Gonzalez, who also received a silver in Super Quiz; Danny Beus, who won a bronze with his essay; and Shelvin Williams, who earned a gold medal for his outstanding work in the Super Quiz.

In the overall points competition, Davis High School finished first, followed by Winters High School, River City High School, and Woodland High School. River City moved up a notch in the Super Quiz portion of the competition, tying Winters for second place.

City parkland may be 'borrowed' for site of new school

The West Sacramento City Council tonight will discuss giving the local school district "access" to two city-owned acres to enable the district to build a new elementary school in Southport's "Bridgeway Island" subdivision north of Marshall Road.

The agreement would allow Washington Unified School District to include the two acres in Bridgeway Island Park among the ten acres necessary under state rules to build a new school.

The deal would be "a continuation of (a) long tradition" of joint city/school projects, said a city staff report.

The acreage – part of a four-acre park – would continue to be used and maintained as a city park.

Planners approve design themes for commercial center

The West Sacramento Planning Commission last week approved a "palette" of architectural themes for use in a key future commercial district.

The "Southport Town Center," located generally south of Gateway Dr. and east of Jefferson Blvd. in Southport, will feature "agrarian," "rustic romantic," "contemporary/winery" or "Main Street"-style buildings among its future public buildings and stores.

The four themes are designed to present a cohesive appearance for the area, while not breeding monotony.

Landowners supported the plan.

Prominent among the planned developments for the central commercial area is a proposed Nugget supermarket center near Linden Rd. and Jefferson Blvd.

RCHS students weigh in on question: 'Do dogs dream?'

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

Awhile back, I ran across an article in the Sacramento Bee entitled "Sweet dreams, Fido? Perhaps so", written by Erica Goode of the New York Times. Having long ago been convinced that my little Cocker Spaniel, Mikey, has better dreams than I do, I was eager to see what the article had to say.

As I read I discovered that two scientific researchers studying memory had come up with compelling evidence "that the brains of sleeping animals are at work in a way that is irresistibly suggestive of dreaming", and that the laboratory rats used in the experiment appeared to be dreaming about something very specific; the maze they were learning to run.

The article went on to say that "the findings are the strongest evidence we have to date that animals have something close to human dreaming" and "if animals dream, it suggests they might have more complex mental functions than has been appreciated."

When my dog Mikey falls asleep every evening (and he does so on his very own little pillow -- which is only a few feet away from mine) it isn't long before his paws are aquiver and he begins to make all kinds of interesting little noises which range from deep sighs to a comical high-pitched whimpering. Sometimes it gets so loud that I have to reach out and shake him awake, and when I do so, he usually looks over at me with an expression which appears to be saying, "Hey, I thought we were friends! Would I wake you up if you were having a great dream? Of course I wouldn't! So, please, don't do it again!"

When I've tried to tell other people that my dog has a very active dream life, they usually look at me like I'm nuts.

"It's probably just gas," insisted one of my children, noting that Mikey's flatulence problem has definitely increased as he has aged.

Determined to get a larger sample of opinions on the question, "Do dogs dream?", I decided to pose it to the three River City High School English classes I'm currently substitute teaching for (they needed a journal question to write about last Monday anyway) and here are just a few of their very insightful responses:

"My dog not only has dreams, he has nightmares! I think it has to do with this big stupid looking cat across the street that keeps beating my dog up. I better not tell you what I would like to do to that cat!"

"My dog dreams about chewing on a hambone, running around in a field, chasing cars, eating really good food, and peeing on a fire hydrant."

"My dog never stops begging for table food and I think he dreams about us dropping a whole ham or a turkey or something on the floor."

"I think dogs dream about people, possibly of wanting to be a human being instead of just a dog."

"If I were a dog, to be honest, I would dream about women dogs. I bet a lot of other guys with dogs would agree. I also bet dogs dream about being the top dawg and telling other dogs to get off their territory and everyone calling them Big Bow-wow."

"Do dogs dream? I think so by the actions of my dog when she is sleeping. When she is asleep, she twitches and her eyes blink and sometimes she even wakes up and runs downstairs barking at nothing."

"I'm going to be honest. If I was a dog, I would be dreaming of having the biggest bone in the whole world. I would also dream about me controlling my owner instead of him controlling me. And the whole world would have nothing but dogs running around and all the cats would be slaves to the dogs and have to clean out really dirty toilets."

"I think dogs dream of being in charge and taking their masters for a walk instead of the other way around."

"I think dogs dream about biting dog-catchers and smelling each other, which is all my dog likes to do."

"I have a dog named Lady. She is a German shorthair. We got her from the pound when she was 7-years old. She is a good dog and when she dreams it's so funny. She moans and her feet start twitching and the cheeks in her mouth puff up. I think she is dreaming about how the people that had her before abused her. It's sad because she is still afraid of things."

"I don't know what my dog dreams about, but he's a pitbull, and it's definitely not good."

"My dog dreams about that foxy female dog he's seen on those "Kibbles 'n' Bits" commercials."

"I think dogs dream about being rich, with a rich owner, and about being tall and strong, and not having fleas."

And finally, one student seemed to grasp the importance of the assignment better than the rest of her peers, and she wrote:

"I think this topic is totally irrelevant to our education. We need to learn about important things!"

Note: To date, the Grace K. Ohlson Scholarship Fund has received 95 donations for a total of $8,345. The goal is to raise a $10,000 endowment with the interest earnings being used to support a $500 annual scholarship for Washington Unified School District graduates who plan on attending a college in the Los Rios Community College system. Anyone who would like to make a contribution to the fund can do so by making a check payable to the Grace K. Ohlson Scholarship Fund, c/o the News-Ledger, PO Box 463, West Sacramento, CA 95691.

SPORTS

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

The Sacramento Kings (31-13) not only lost to the Shaqless Lakers on Sunday's NBC game but they also missed showing the basketball world how good they really are. The Kings seemed a little nervous at times and never did settle down and play the ball down low to take advantage of the wounded Lakers line-up. The Lakers bench rose to the challenge and out played the Kings on their home court.

Chris Webber, riding his All-Star selection, decided to play a little bit of point guard as he grabbed rebounds and traveled coast-to-coast only to continuously miss his jump shot at the top the key. Who was under the board to get the rebounds? Webber still had a good game but reserve point guard

Bobby Jackson stole the show with his great defense and his electrifying game tying slam-dunks. Coach Adelman decided to sit Jason Williams out through most of the fourth quarter and go with a larger line-up. It worked in Portland but not this time. The Lakers bench players, Horry, Grant and Foster covering the boards for the injured Shaq scored a total of 43 points.

The Kings, who strolled in the Staple Center in Los Angeles leading the Pacific Division, now are faced with four tough road games. The first game takes them to Milwaukee against the Central Division leading Bucks (28-17).

The Bucks are led by All-Stars, Glen Robinson and Ray Allen and are the league's third-highest scoring team. Kings, who lead the league in scoring, will then travel for the second game of a back-to-back situation against the Minnesota Timberwolves (31-18). The Kings will enjoy five days off during the All-Star break but then its back to the real world on Tuesday, Feb. 13th (TBS) in Utah and then another tough road game on Thursday, February 15th in Portland (ch.31).

The Kings next home game will be on Friday, February 16th against the Denver Nuggets (27-22). Single game tickets are still available at the Arco Box Office for most of the Kings home games or call (916) 928-3650.

The XFL made its debut this weekend much to the delight of football fans around the nation. The TV ratings were surprisingly very good according to media reports and WWF owner Vince McMahon. Sacramento's rating Saturday on KCRA-NBC was an 8.1 with a 15% share - the percentage of the audience that had TV sets on at that time. Which means the game was the most-watched program in that time period with about 225,000 viewers. These kinds of numbers will satisfy the TV advertisers for the time being but the scary thought is that the stands were full and the fans loved the action.

The XFL exposure even cut into the NFL's coverage the Pro Bowl game in Hawaii. The NFL reported a 33% lost in their TV ratings during the first half of the Pro Bowl. The AFC, under the direction of Raiders QB Rich Gannon, beat the NFC 38-17 or did anybody even notice. Gannon, 35, playing in his second straight Pro Bowl game was voted the game MVP with his 160-yard passing and two touchdown performance. The NFL season is officially over!

The San Francisco Demons needed a last second field goal by retired schoolteacher, Mike Panasuk, to beat the Los Angeles Xtreme 15-13 before an overflow crowd of 38,000 at Pac Bell Park. Panasuk, who was teaching Jr. High School last week, was signed by the Demons to replace an injured kicker. The Demons quarterback, ex-Cal star Mike Pawlowski, had a great day completing 31-47 passes for 289 yards and two touchdowns. This week the Demons travel to Orlando (5 p.m.-NBC) to face the Rage on Sunday, February 11th. The Demons vs the Rage - now that sounds like the WWF!

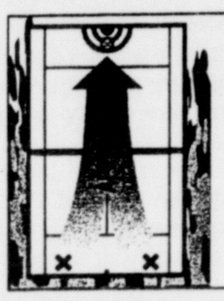

See ya next week!!

BURNEY LAMAR

Burney Lamar fell into a spin, and from fifth place to 24th place, on lap 30 of a 100-lap stock car race Feb. 4 in Phoenix after his car was struck by one driven by Ken Kalteschmidt. But Lamar worked his way back to 17th place by the end of the race.

"I'm happy for this being my first race," said Lamar of his first stock car event as a new member of the Bonicelli Racing Team. "Too bad we had an unfortunate situation."

Lamar, a West Sacramento resident, joined the Colorado team this year – a move that will free him from much of the nitty-gritty routine of being a driver.

His next race will be at California's Cajon Speedway.

Telephone repair with experience

(Here is the latest in the News-Ledger's series of profiles with its advertisers. We hope you enjoy this chance to meet them. – Editor)

By Steve Marschke

JACK SILVEIRA of 'Jack's Telephone Repair,' with his classic BSA motorcycle

The telephone industry is fraught with change, and West Sacramento's Jack Silveira has seen many of them. Retired from 30 years with Pacific Bell, Silveira still does house calls on phone equipment – setting up phone lines and repairing old phone instruments.

"It started when I was living in Petaluma," he relates. "I wanted to go to work for the telephone company and happened to be in San Francisco, so I applied. They didn't have the job I wanted, so I started as a truck driver. In 1953, I moved to Sacramento and worked for Pac Bell inside the switch room, outside telephone repair and frame work (wiring connections)."

The switch room is one example of how technology has changed over the years.

"Our office was one floor. It was a 60 foot by 100 foot room, and then they took the same thing and put it into a room about 20 by 20 with modern miniaturization."

"I worked there quite awhile," he adds of Pac Bell, "and retired in 1982 after 30 years. All that time, I worked in Carmichael, Folsom, El Dorado Hills, West Sacramento, Oak Park, Berkeley, Danville and other places."

When the phone company "divested" in 1984 – allowing competition in phone repair services, Silveira opened up Jack's Telephone Repair.

"Anybody could go into the telephone repair business then," he said. "I started by going to the flea market on Folsom Blvd. on weekends and renting a table. People who wanted a telephone fixed would leave it and come back the next week and it would be fixed for them. But when it rained, people didn't come in, and I didn't make any money, but I still had to pay for the table. I said, 'forget that!'"

So Silveira put out a series of yellow page ads and an ad in the News-Ledger that has been in these pages for years. He opened up his own shop. One specialty is the repair of old – often classic – telephone instruments, including rotary phones and old "Bakelite" models.

These, he says, can work virtually forever.

"You can go through two or three of the new electric phones in a year," he said. "The old mechanical ones last forever. If you drop the new type, usually you break the card inside."

Where does he see the future of phones?

"In 15 or 20 years, you won't have any wires," Silveira predicted. "Your phone will be on your wrist. Cellular phones will probably turn into business phones and pick up two or three lines."

Silveira lives alone but has one daughter in West Sacramento and another in Ohio. He has five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

An Air Force veteran, he was sent to the Aleutian Islands in the World War II era, leaving in 1946. He found that island chain, located west of Alaska, quite cold.

"I drove a truck for the mess hall, picked up rations and ran a gas station up there," he said. "The island was called Amchitka. It was a mile wide and 18 miles long. Three or four of us built a motorcycle up there."

Silveira still rides motorbikes. He has a classic 1963 BSA and a 1982 Triumph electric start.

"Sometimes I'll take off from here and sometimes I'll trailer to Petaluma and ride to Point Reyes, Dillon Beach or the Russian River. I ride by myself and like to go 50 to 60 miles per hour, tops. I'm not a joy rider. I belonged to a club, but every time we went on a ride it was like a race. I'm not in a hurry. One day, I put on 450 miles to Willits and back."

Retirement? Maybe in a year or two, he said.

And while that might mean hanging up the phone repair tools, it won't mean goodbye to his bikes.

"I;m going to visit some people," he said. "I'm going to take my Cadillac sedan and put a trailer hitch on it and take my bikes and visit some folks I know in New Mexico and Arizona.

Jack's Telephone Repair can be reached at 371-5950. His ad generally appears on page two of the News-Ledger.

Valentine's Day Delights

A Valentine's Day Dinner To Remember

(NAPS)—Treat that special someone in your life to an elegant, yet easy, dinner of Roasted Salmon with Caramelized Onions, Figs and Red Wine, fresh green beans and orzo pasta. A meal that celebrates a special occasion and your desire to eat more healthfully, may be the best gift you can give.

Fresh, bright pink salmon simply roasted sits atop a ruby-red "sauce" of caramelized onions and sweet, golden California Calimyrna figs. The sauce is flavored with a full-bodied red wine, a touch of balsamic vinegar and some fresh rosemary. Heart-healthy California dried figs provide most of the eight grams of dietary fiber in this dish, as well as calcium, iron, potassium and health-promoting antioxidants; the onions and red wine also contribute a healthy dose of antioxidants; and the salmon adds omega-3 fatty acids. This beautiful dish delivers on all levels—flavor, eye appeal, texture and stellar nutritional value.

California dried figs, both golden-brown Calimyrnas and dark purple Missions, are versatile and equally at home in entrées, desserts, salads and side dishes. If you're looking for a healthy, portable snack to keep handy during the long winter months, figs are the answer. Five to six California dried figs provide approximately five grams of dietary fiber or 20 percent of your daily value along with eight percent of your daily value for iron, six percent for calcium and seven percent for potassium, which can help keep your blood pressure normal.

For a special dinner, serve heart-healthy Roasted Salmon with Caramelized Onions, Figs and Red Wine.

Roasted Salmon with Caramelized Onions, Figs and Red Wine

2 tablespoons olive oil
1 pound yellow onions, halved and thinly sliced to measure 4 cups
Salt
1 cup (6 ounces) Blue Ribbon Orchard Choice or Sun-Maid Mission or Calimyrna figs, stemmed and halved
½ cup red or white wine
½ cup chicken broth
1 tablespoon balsamic vinegar
1 tablespoon chopped fresh rosemary or 1 teaspoon dried rosemary
Freshly ground black pepper
1 to 1½ pounds salmon filet, skinned and cut into 4 portions
Chopped parsley

Swirl olive oil in bottom of medium nonstick skillet. Add onions and sprinkle ½ teaspoon salt. Cover and cook over medium-low heat, stirring occasionally, until onions are soft, about 10 minutes. Remove cover and cook, stirring often, until onions are golden, 15 to 20 minutes. Stir in figs, wine, broth, vinegar and fresh rosemary. Increase heat to high and simmer until sauce thickens, about 5 minutes. Add salt and pepper to taste. Keep warm. Preheat oven to 450°F. Sprinkle salmon with salt and pepper to taste. Place on lightly oiled heavy baking sheet. Roast for 7 to 10 minutes or until fish flakes. Sprinkle salmon with parsley. Serve over fig sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Nutrients per serving: Calories 416; Protein 26g; Fat 15g; Carbohydrate 39g; Cholesterol 64mg; Dietary Fiber 8g; Sodium 549mg; Daily Value: 4 percent vitamin A, 20 percent vitamin C, 15 percent iron and 10 percent calcium.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial:

Bits & pieces

Negotiations continue very seriously for the use of the former Money Store "ziggurat" by the state's Department of General Services.

A state lease could re-fill the building, which has been underused since the loan company's parent corporation shut the lender down. The state's ability to pay a high rate for the lease is limited. And while West Sacramento would be happy to host a major state office, city officials had hoped even more that the building would become another high-profile corporate headquarters.

A state lease wouldn't remove the building from the property tax rolls, however. The building would remain under private ownership.

Stay tuned.

A few more comments on the electricity crunch:

An article in the News-Ledger on Aug. 30 (a time when neither "dimpled chads" nor "rolling blackouts" were yet matters for water-cooler conversation!) explored home use of geothermal energy for heating and cooling.

A Pacific Gas & Electric Company spokesperson was quoted as saying, "promoting energy conservation is a major goal of PG&E."

"We are basically on the brink of having demand exceed supply," she added.

Evidently no one really believed her – including the state government.

Many energy experts say we could be in "real" trouble this summer, as air conditioning use gears up in California. How energy supply and pricing shape up in the long run are harder to predict.

This city isn't in the energy business, so it can't really be blamed for the problem.

But for what it's worth, West Sacramento's local government isn't playing a particularly active role in energy conservation at this point. One local official says that the city will help to distribute information on saving energy. And building department officials must always make sure that construction features such as insulation are "up to code."

But energy efficiency isn't a factor in, for example, city approval of the design of new housing subdivisions. Also, there are also no real local programs or incentives to promote alternative energy sources. And some of our master plans actually conspire against energy efficiency: linear grid streets would be better than "gracefully curving" subdivisions, one official points out, in allowing new homes to orient themselves for "passive" solar design.

City councilperson not responsible

In his letter ("College financial aid information"), in the News-Ledger on January 31, Edward R. Hocking attempted to blame an unnamed West Sacramento city councilperson for Senator Deborah Ortiz's apparent failure to provide information to the Washington Unified School District about a training program she organized. The Washington Unified School District and the City of West Sacramento are two distinct entities; it is not the duty of West Sacramento city councilpersons to relay information to the school district, its schools, or its students regarding state senators' education projects. Since Ms. Ortiz organized the training session, it was her responsibility to provide information in a timely manner directly to the Washington Unified School District.

Audit PG&E's parent company

It sounds like our state leaders have struck a compromise on the natural gas and electricity problems; i.e., the alleged shortages and skyrocketing prices resulting from the deregulation that was supposed to bring about more competition and lower prices. The State gets in the business of buying and re-selling power fuel at prices higher than we previously paid, but the 10-year contract will hold down prices significantly from what we would otherwise pay.

Besides the displeasure of higher home fuel costs and the obvious failure of the deregulation system, this factor is also disturbing: As I listen to the news, I've often heard of PG&E California being billions of dollars in debt and about to go bankrupt, but reporter goes on to talk about PG&E's parent company which does not seem to have any financial problems worth mentioning! Does this not seem strange to you, too? At one time we had only one PG&E her in California. Could this be a deliberate case of mismanagement to justify billions more money from the public and its entities? (Do they still juggle the books?"

Interesting, too, is President Bush's claim that each state should be "energy-independent", and not have to depend on other states for their energy sources. If we carry that out literally, each state should strive to become independent for everything except for say defense and currency. Maybe we should have more construction for solar power, resulting in less dependence on public power as our state also constructs more power plants. (And how about a "reverse-nimby bonus" where plants must be built through already existing communities?)

Since we made homelessness illegal several years ago, it seems like withholding essentials of modern day living could be construed as contributing to crime.

Over the years, how many times were we told to conserve energy only to later witness PG&E petition the Public Utilities Commission for rate hikes? So what happened to the incentives to conserve energy? As we consumed fewer units, we would pay higher unit costs with little or no net savings.

The bottom line: Let's have an audit of PG&E's parent company and maybe there's more than enough to cover the PG&E's California losses! It's worth checking out.

Energy crisis needs action

Equity bonds -- baloney -- what building genius holds individual notarized, recorded Powers of Attorney of all utility ratepayers authorizing Governor to force them to buy into obviously mismanaged, verge of bankruptcy situation? Ratepayers have no obligation, legal or moral.

Sounds like New York Mafia-style management to me, with no relief in sight. Off-line turbines are still off-line with no intent to put them on line with service contracts. State of California needs lien rights to recover monies advanced.

Does Gov. Davis have a Cayman Island account waiting for him? The transmission lines, three weeks into this mess, are not being upgraded, or intended to be.

Corporate executives are still in place (not fired for incompetence) so their scheme is on track and working.

Could Gen. Schwarzkopf manage the turbine off-line situation and get it working?

Three weeks into this mess our situation cries out for real leadership.

Deregulations can only work well where there are eager competitors waiting to bid and serve. Where none are, the tendency to follow racketeering practices become a real possibility. A Statewide Utility District would work, with all generating units owned by the district. Acquiring properties by eminent domain purchase would be better for shareholders and consumers than a mish mash of bankruptcy and more of the same old routine. Kathleen Connell has it right but does not go far enough. California needs to own the entire utility system under a Statewide Utility District.

Incompetent, dishonest management by utility companies has dissipated reserves for upgrading of transmission delivery systems. We should also:

1. Go to daylight saving immediately.
2. Reverse the tribal agreement on Trinity river turbines, putting those turbines into interim service immediately.
3. Spend monies appropriated to purchase under eminent domain the generating plants now blackmailing California.

Leadership is not a sometime thing. If it is not there at bedtime it won't be there at dawn to put on and wear for a day.

NOTICE TO ADOPT A NEGATIVE DECLARATION

A Mitigated Negative Declaration has been prepared for Tentative Parcel Map No. 4485 (the Smith Parcel Map) in West Sacramento. This Mitigated Negative Declaration has been prepared to address the potential environmental impacts of a proposal to create four residential lots on 4.5 acres on property zoned Rural Residential (RR) which applies a one acre minimum lot size requirement. The project is located on the south side of Linden Road just west of Alder Way. Access to three of the four lots will be from a proposed private drive connected to Linden Road. The Mitigated Negative Declaration concludes that with the implementation of recommended mitigation measures, there will be no significant adverse impacts on the environment.

Copies of the Mitigated Negative Declaration are on file in the office of the West Sacramento Community Development Department at 1951 South River Road, West Sacramento, CA 95691 (telephone: 916/373-5854).

Any affected or interested parties may appear at the March 1, 2001 Planning Commission meeting and comment on the Mitigated Negative Declaration and/or the proposed project.

The West Sacramento Planning Commission will consider adoption of the Mitigated Negative Declaration on March 1, 2001 in the City Council chambers located at 1350 Halyard Dr., West Sacramento, California, at 6:00 p.m., or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC WORKSHOP FOR WEST SACRAMENTO TRANSIT SERVICE CHANGES

On Thursday, February 15, 2001, staff from the Yolo County Transportation District will conduct two public workshops on proposed changes to West Sacramento Yolobus transit routes. The workshops will be at 4:00 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. at the community room of the West Sacramento Police Department, 550 Jefferson Boulevard (at Triangle Court).

Alternatives being considered include:

Option A: Southport/downtown Sacramento commute hour route to stay unchanged. Replace midday route 39 service with a new north/south route that would operate between Southport and Riverpoint/Stillwater, including service to the current City Hall site and the Del Monte area. The City Hall stop would be removed from routes 40 and 41 (riders could transfer to and from the revised Southport route), saving bus riding time for most riders and helping the bus operate more on schedule. The proposed change will eliminate the need for persons to cross Jefferson Boulevard at Triangle Court. It is proposed that Stone Boulevard be served either by extending route 41 or deviating the new Southport/Riverpoint/Stillwater route to serve Stone Boulevard.

Option B: Southport/downtown Sacramento commute hour route to stay unchanged. Eliminate midday route 39 service and expand route 40 so that it includes, City Hall, Seaport and Riverpoint/Stillwater. Expand route 41 so that it includes Southport, City Hall and Riverpoint/Stillwater. The proposed change will eliminate the need for persons to cross Jefferson Boulevard at Triangle Court.

Copies of the proposed changes are available on Yolobus buses, at the West Sacramento City Hall, Turner Library, and from the Yolo County Transportation District. Please call 530 661-0816 to request a copy.

Those wishing to provide input at the workshops are encouraged to attend. Those who cannot attend the workshop can give the District their suggestions and comments by: 1) mailing a letter to YCTD, 350 Industrial Way, Woodland, CA 95776, 2) emailing to: kherger@yctd.org, 3) FAXing to (530) 661-1732, or 4) calling 1-800-371-2877.

Another dance will be held Saturday night in the town hall, this time to be known as a hard times dance when everybody will be welcomed in their old clothes and hats, but not with their old shoes. A ban has been placed on the wearing of old shoes, so that the ladies may not get their toes mangled during the evening. The dance held last Saturday night under the auspices of Fire Commissioner Lear and D. Pellini was a very enjoyable affair with a large crowd present to respond to the jazz music that was furnished by a good band. During the evening refreshments will be served in the way of soft drinks but not intoxicants of any character will be permitted in the hall or outside of it by Constable Buckingham. Ladies are admitted free to these dances and the charge of admission for men is only 50 cents.

At the meeting of the Fire Trustees last Monday evening a resolution was passed to purchase 250 feet of fire hose for the hose cart in Washington. The old hose has started to leak and may become useless at any fire in the near future. The Trustees did not want to run any risk of this character and took steps to invest $225 for the benefit of home owners in the town.

Prohibition Officers Greer and Plant conducted a raid yesterday afternoon at the Washington Hotel, but no intoxicants were found on the premises except a bottle of white wine that was purchased before prohibition was enacted and was hidden away in a wood box by some previous tenant of the property. W. J. Campbell and D. Pellini were notified to appear before Federal Commissioner John Q. Brown, Jr., in Sacramento Saturday.

Last Saturday afternoon at "death curve" (Fifth and Ann Streets) an automobile carrying a Colorado license number and occupied by two men turned off the embankment and was wrecked in the gully west of the roadway. Both front wheels were smashed to timber and the steering gear was knocked completely out of joint. The two occupants were pinned underneath the car but when extricated were found to be unhurt. Had the men been sober they would surely have been killed. God takes care of His own.

Sunday forenoon an automobile mechanic, driving home to the Monument Ranch Mike Steinauer's Dodge roadster, became confused on the road near Rose Orchard and drove off the embankment. He had just repaired the car and was taking it to its owner, but after trying to knock over a large oak tree he decided it was better to return the Dodge for further repairs. He was also returned to a Sacramento hospital for personal attention because in the melee he fractured a leg.

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED BY MARTY FAMILY

On the evening of Tuesday, February 6th, Mr. and Mrs. Antone Marty celebrated their silver wedding anniversary at their home on the Monument Ranch, six miles north of Washington.

Eighty invited guests filled the ample rooms of the Marty home and a wedding feast that burdened great tables was cooked in such bounteous measure that every guest left the Marty home blessing their host for the magnificent feed they had enjoyed.

The celebration was a grand home affair with many guests from outside points even as far north as Red Bluff and as far south as Bakersfield.

Sacramento citizens predominated among those invited and among others might be mentioned Wm. Trust and Rev. Father Marcucci.

An old and reliable member of the Marty family who has been with them since their first wedding day, Mike Steinauer, was chief cook for the occasion. Over a broiling fire in the kitchen filled with good things he stood all day cooking turkey and chicken to his inimitable taste and to say that the guests enjoyed these things would be putting it mildly.

Mr. and Mrs. Marty were recipients of many beautiful mementoes given to them on this occasion.

Although Steinauer worked hard to do justice to his duties he left the home immediately following the dinner to see that the cows pasturing at Dunnigan were being properly taken care of by the men in charge of the Dunnigan Ranch.

SCHOOL STATEMENTS MADE BY VAN TASSEL ARE CONTRADICTED

West Sacramento, Calif.,
February 15, 1923.

Dear Sir: In your issue of February 10th apepared an article which purported to be a correction of statements previously published in reference to the Riverside School. As a usual thing a correction is presupposed to be correct, but in this instance the so-called correction needs both correction and comment, in order to put the matter of the school properly before the reading public. As the writer of that communication has, for more than two years, neither lived in the Sacramento River district nor taken any interest in its affairs, it is only to be expected that the communication should contain inaccuracies.

It is conceded that the first statement in regard to the school was incorrect in some particulars. The building was erected for a school twenty-five or thirty years ago and was well situated with regard to the center of population, and entirely adequate for the needs of the district, but times have changed most materially. The center of population has moved from the river to the center of the district, and of necessity the school will follow. It is true there is more than one child in the immediate vicinity of the present site but of the forty-six enrolled only eight come from east of the railroad, and none will have to come from a greater distance for the new site than for the present site.

To those who are familiar with the present conditions, it is a known fact that the teacher does leave her automobile parked on Jefferson Boulevard near the church, walks from that point to the railroad and rides the balance of the way in the school bus.

Suggestion that the future may see the need of a school on the river front can be very properly answered by the argument used by your correspondent some two years ago, when an effort was made to consolidate the Riverview school district with the Washington school district. At that time he was a very ardent worker for fewer schools but better ones. If an effort to consolidate schools so widely separated as the Broderick school and the Riverview school was deemed worthy of support, why consider anything except consolidation for the future?

The building is in a deplorable condition and should have been abandoned five years ago. The present Board of Trustees, as well as the teacher, has done all that is possible to protect the school property since it was turned over to them, but it was then in such an advanced state of dilapidation that re-building was the only solution.

Anyone who is familiar with the Riverview district knows that the school in its present location does not serve the majority of the people and it is further inadequate because there are some forty-six children crowded in one room with one teacher trying to do them justice, a number far in excess of the number specified in the school law.

The matter of location was taken care of by the election recently held, and the bond issue to provide funds for the erection of a modern two-room building is to be voted upon on March 10th. It is expected and hoped that the bond issue will carry, as it will be the best way to finance the new building, but if the election should fail, the money can and will be raised by direct tax, which will of course make a heavier burden upon the taxpayer.

Rather apart from the subject at hand, it would be interesting to know from what motives springs the interest of your correspondent, as he resides outside of the Riverview district, as the result of a petition to the Board of Supervisors to change the boundaries of the Washington school district so as to include in that district the Van Tassel property.

Thanking you for this opportunity to present our case to the public, we are,

Respectfully,
J. H. BRYAN,
M. M. TEIXEIRA,
MRS. G. SILLANO,
Trustees Sacramento River District.

THREE HOURS' SICKNESS WITH HEART TROUBLE TOOK CHARLES HUNT

Last Saturday, February 10, at 11 p. m., Charley Hunt was around town, jovially passing time with many old friends, and three hours later his remains were taken to an undertaking parlor. He succumbed to heart trouble.

Hunt had been a resident of Washington during the past fifteen years and was a native of Sacramento. He was 62 years and eight months old at the date of his death, and was a member of Red Jacket Tribe and of Metamora Council, Improved Order of Red Men.

Charley Hunt was a jovial, sociable man of many excellent qualities. He attended strictly to his own affairs, never interfering with others and permitting others to do just as they saw fit so long as they did not interfere with him personally. Several years ago he was married and leaves a daughter, Ruth Hunt, and a sister, Mrs. Hattie Beattie, and a brother, Robert Hunt of Sacramento. His funeral, which was very largely attended by friends and relatives, took place last Tuesday from the Garlick Undertaking Home in Sacramento, and interment was in the family plot in the City Cemetery.

MUCH NEEDED IMPROVEMENT MADE AT RAILROAD CROSSING

At the crossing of the San Francisco and Sacramento R. R. between the State highway in West Sacramento and West Sacramento headquarters a badly needed repair job has been done by the section foreman, William J. Trefon.

A few weeks ago this paper complained about this crossing because the steel tracks protruded several inches above the surrounding gravel forming a veritable menace to rubber tires as well as steel rims.

Mr. Trefon's attention was called to this condition and he immediately set his gang to make the necessary repairs. Residents of the district are wondering what benign notion overtook the railroad authrities to perform this necessary repair work.

Celebrating a golden 50

West Sacramento's Charles and Billie Robinson celebrated their 50th anniversary on New Year's Eve.

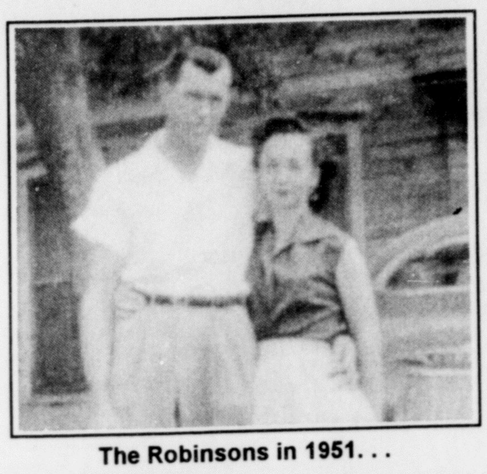

"She took me out New Year's Eve in 1950 and got me drunk, and I woke up next to her and she said we were married. That ended my drinking," joked "Chuck."

"Chuck" is retired from a wholesale tire dealership business, and met Billie while he was working as a city bus driver in Seattle.

"I met my wife when she was a waitress at the end of one of my bus stops," said Chuck.
